Reference-Based Pricing: New Strategies for Cost Control November 14, 2018 (North Charleston, SC)

Please join the Carolinas Chapter for our November program "Reference-Based Pricing: New Strategies for Cost Control" on Wednesday, November 14th at 3:30 pm at the South Carolina Federal Credit, North Charleston, SC.

Reference-based programs have been in the news lately, particularly after the state of North Carolina's announcement that it would be exploring an RBP approach for all state employees in 2020. Woody Waters, founder and CEO of ELAP, will describe the growth and development of reference-based programs. He will review the legal and regulatory structure of these plans, summarize market growth, and discuss implementation issues and member challenges.

Stay after the program and network at the chapter social. Drinks and hors d'oeuvres will be provided.

SPEAKER:

Woody Waters
Founder and CEO
ELAP

In 2002 Woody co-founded ELAP Services LLC, which acts as an outsourced fiduciary to employers that self-fund their health plans. ELAP assists its clients with coverage- and payment-determinations and is the nation's pioneer in metric-based claims reimbursement. Previously, Woody worked for nine years at one of the top insurance brokerages in America and served as a property & casualty producer. Woody graduated in 1990 from the University of Georgia with a BBA in Risk Management & Insurance, and he received an MBA in Marketing from Georgia in 1992.
