Arriving Now - Rare Disease Therapies $500,000 and Higher: Plan Sponsors Take Warning! April 18, 2019

- ◆Qualifies for two (2) CEBS Compliance Credits◆
- ◆Approved for 2 Life/Health Maryland Insurance Credits◆

Please join the Baltimore Chapter ISCEBS and our speaker Ryan Siemers, CEBS, Principal with Aegis Risk LLC, on Thursday, April 18, 2019.

With the removal of annual and lifetime dollar limits under the ACA, life preserving therapies for rare diseases not previously treatable or financially viable can carry six and seven figure annual costs. Their rarity stymies purchasing programs, effective PPO discounts and wellness programs. The financial risks to health plan sponsors, particularly those that self-insure, are significant. If it is an ongoing annual therapy, an unreserved future liability can be several millions of dollars. Risk management in the form of stop loss is being tested as never before, and increasingly applicable to plan sponsors of all sizes.

Ample time will be provided for questions from attendees.
